Solon Springs, Wis.—Relatives and friends of the Rev. Griffith Crawford, her husband, Friday were awaiting the report on the investigation into the death of Mrs. Clara Bothwell-Crawford, whose body was exhumed at Gary, Ind., and the vital organs sent to Chicago, for examination, at the request of relatives, who fear possible foul play through poison.

Mrs. Crawford became ill in July and died Aug. 11. According to Dr. A. G. Wilcox of this city, death was due to pneumonia and other causes. He said that if Mrs. Crawford had been poisoned no trace of it was apparent.

Mrs. Crawford was unconscious most of the time during her illness and talked incessantly but incoherently, according to Miss Hannah Strand, Duluth, the nurse who attended the minister's wife from July 24 to Aug. 11.

During the week preceding Aug. 10, she said the Rev. Mr. Crawford seemed unable to take care of himself. She described his actions as " queer " and said he was weak and unable to walk and frequently was given a hypodermic injection by Dr. Wilcox.

Miss Strand added that when she was not attending the stricken woman, Mrs. William Davis, a daughter-in-law of Mrs. Crawford, cared for her. She said Mrs. Davis came with her husband Nov. 30, 1921, to open the parsonage at Solon Springs for her father, from the time Mrs. Crawford died. According to the minister, " jealousy and hatred " over the division of Mrs. Crawford's estate, estimated at $75,000 by William Bothwell, senior, by her family was responsible for the present investigation.

Vote for Erection of County Sanatorium in 1923 Ends 10-Year Fight

Action of the Rock county board of supervisors Thursday afternoon in deciding upon starting construction of a county tuberculosis sanatorium in 1923, thereby ending a 10-year fight which has been waged, paves the way for passage of a resolution authorizing a bond issue before the building may be started. This will probably be considered in January.

The board, it appears, thought the settlement of the sanatorium question a good afternoon's work, for after discussing county and city relationship in providing for the poor, referring it to a special committee and considering other small items, it adjourned at 4 o'clock to convene at 3 p. m. Friday. The board plans to complete its business by Friday night if possible.

Site Is Ready
The site for the sanatorium was provided last spring when the county board authorized buying the J. B. Sprackling place in Janesville township, a short distance from the county poor farm. Victory for advocates of the sanatorium came after superior court Paul's minority report of the joint committee, which would have meant suspension of the sanatorium building, was defeated, 23-20, with three members absent.

(By Associated Press.)
Madison.—Fewer than 50 percent of the total number of Wisconsin voters took the trouble to go to the polls Nov. 7 to choose a United States senator and state officer, and to vote on proposed constitutional amendments, tabulations taken from official county returns, filed with Elmer S. Hall, secretary of state, show.

Three out of every four of the 445,000 electors who cast ballots voted for Senator La Follette and for Elmer S. Hall, secretary of state, and 50 percent of the voters remained away from the polls. The general election vote was over 50,000 less than that cast at the primary and more than 100,000 less than the 577,000 vote polled in the 1920 general election.

One Amendment Passed
The amendment to the constitution by which the next legislature authority to provide that verdict in civil cases, tried by jury, may be given by a five-sixths vote. This amendment won a vote of 169,627 and 147,061 against, with only Douglas and Outagamie counties returning missing.

Supervisors Vote
$75,000 for New
Asylum Buildings

New buildings to separate the inmates of the Rock county asylum were voted by the Rock county board, Friday when it appropriated $75,000 to be raised by direct taxation to be spread on the 1922 and 1923 levies to be paid the following years. The sum of $25,000 of the appropriation will be used for a new heating plant, declared to be badly needed at the county farm.

George Woodruff, Janesville supervisor, offered some opposition, Friday when he declared it was the board's duty to first dispose of the tuberculosis sanatorium. Also it was questioned whether the two new buildings to house about 70 patients, $5 in each department, could be built for $50,000. It was explained that the patients would do a large part of the construction work.

Patients to Aid Construction
The state board of control will have the say about the buildings and they must be built subject to the "approval" of the state board, declared Archie Cullen, who advised the board that much of the construction work will be done by the inmates at the farm on both the new asylum buildings and on the tuberculosis sanatorium.

After statements were given by District Attorney S. G. Dunwiddie on the status of the deputy sheriffs and constables in serving criminal papers and making collections through the county, the board passed appropriations to pay the officers.

Defer Poor Relief Action
There was an attempt to bring a vote on the issue whether the county should go back to the old system of township trustees furnishing their own poor relief. An amendment to the motion made by Supervisor J. C. Vivison for the township system was lost on a tie vote and after a discussion it was voted to refer the question to the district attorney for report in January.

Vote $200 for Exhibits
On the recommendations of the highway committee the board voted to pay Green county $1,347 for a road built in 1915 by Green county in Spring Valley.

It does not concern Rock county whether Green county will or not, declared Chairman H. B. Mosley in making the committee report. The county board showed approval of the "Rock County First" farm development program by voting $200 to be used by the county agricultural committee in having a display booth at the 1923 state fair.

Attempt to Run
Blockade Balked
(By Associated Press.)
Constantinople.—Mohammed VI, the Turkish Sultan, has fled from Constantinople on a British warship, bound for Malta.

On embarking, the Sultan emphasized that he was not abdicating, but merely removing himself from immediate danger.

He wrote to Lieut. Gen. Harington, the British commander in chief, late Wednesday, saying he considered his life in danger and asking British protection.

The Sultan has been greatly exercised over his status since the nationalist assembly at Angora recently voted to depose him of civil authority, and declared the caliph, or religious head of Islam, would be selected from the imperial house by vote of the grand national assembly.

With nationalist military elements coming into Constantinople, the Sultan has been puzzled as to what course to pursue. Constantinople dispatches have pictured him virtually at the mercy of the Kemalists.

Political motives may be read by some in the flight of the Sultan on a British warship. Great Britain could hardly have a strong motive for seeing the Sultan come to him because of the millions of Muslims within her domain, many of whom have disagreed with the Turkish nationalists, disputing their power to take action affecting all Islam.

Christie Chosen
Asylum Trustee
(Special to the Gazette.)
Elkhorn.—George Christie, Darion, former county sheriff and county board chairman, was chosen superintendent of poor and asylum trustee to succeed Fred Hemstreet, resigned, by the Walworth county board Friday.

Charles Chase, Lake Geneva, withdrew and the Darion man was elected, 17-15, over Will Harmon, LaFayette township. Hemstreet resigned Thursday when his right to be superintendent of the county farm and hold the job to which Christie has now been elected, was questioned.

The board voted $20,000 for hams, showed 70 of the 136 cows had tuberculosis. They will be replaced with pure bred Durhams.

Jefferson county must pay the $600 incurred in solving the mystery of Miracle Creek, the Walworth board, refusing to allow the claim made on the grounds that the murder was committed in the Walworth county.

The board also approved a construction program, as recommended by the highway committee, will be taken late Friday.

SUPERVISORS VOTE FOR ASYLUM BLDG.

Orderville district will make a move to have the county board reconsider the building of the convalescent highway on the relocated route 29 west from Janesville to Orderville as the state highway commission sees fit.
In addition to the move to have the county board reconsider it is decided that the residents along the old route will file injunction proceedings in the event the county board refuses to change the decision made to pave out to Footville.
The road program that has been adopted calls for the completion of route 10 between Janesville and Evansville, there being about six miles still unpaved. One stretch was left unpaved between two links of concrete when the county ran short of cement. This will be about two months' work early in 1923 for the machine is on or near the road and a start can be made early in the spring, according to the road authorities.

Through County First
Once the dispute is settled regarding the routing of the county road, the county board will prepare to build the line west from Janesville through the county. It is not likely the board will consent to either an extension from Clinton to the Walworth or to the Dane county line until a thorough line has been built east and west through the county, providing the present highway committee remains on the job.
The committee is to be elected at the present meeting. There is some talk of change from supervisors who consider that certain towns or villages have been receiving insufficient amounts of the concrete paving program.
"I look at this concrete road program only from a stand point of Rock county as the vehicle declared Supervisor Dennis McCarthy.

Porter. "There isn't a chance of my home district routing a road but as far as this committee or myself is concerned I stand for building new lines before we cut through a county to county or village to city system."
Equalization Report Accepted.
Acceptance of the report of the board of equalization was made by the Rock county board late Friday afternoon.
The committee went into session during the morning to adjust claims made by a part of the committee road by W. J. Lathers. Tullie township, who claimed the amounts allotted to the township should be lowered. At first it looked as if there would be a majority and minority report and the equalization issue battled out again.
Following is the report of the equalization committee:
Your committee on equalization beg leave to report that we have had under consideration the county assessment for the year 1922, and we hereby submit our report and recommend that Rock county be equalized on a basis of $120,000,000. We find that the computation of the assessor of incomes, determining that the total valuation of all property in Rock county at the sum of $122,679,422, is correct, and we recommend that the respective district of Rock county be equalized on a basis of $120,000,000. We therefore recommend that the sum of $120,000,000 be apportioned to the several cities, villages and towns as follows:

TOWNSHIPS—	Valuation

Great For Bad Coughs and Colds

Make Your Own Medicine and Have the Best There Is.

You'll Say It's Good When All Mucous
Disappears and Clean Healthy
Membrane Is Your Reward

Here is an inexpensive home made remedy that you can't beat and one that will quickly bring up that phlegm, stop the sneezing, relieve the coughed, soothe the throat, loosen the clogged nostrils, make breathing easy and cause stubborn colds and persistent coughs to vacate—many times over night.

Try it right away if you suffer from Croup, Chest Colds or any irritating nose or throat troubles and you'll be glad you run across this little bit of advice.

Get from any druggist, one ounce of Paracetamol (double strength) add to it a little sugar and enough water to make one half pint. You can make it in two minutes and when it is mixed you can pride yourself on having a medicine that acts directly on the membrane of the nose and throat and acts so effectively that all phlegm, all tickling and inflammation speedily disappears.

WE ARE TO HAVE A SANATORIUM.

The public will breathe with some relief now that the question of building a tuberculosis sanatorium has been settled by the county board. It having been determined that the county needed such an institution, that it was demanded in the interest of better men and women and higher citizenship and as a part of the movement, general in the United States, to stamp out disease, the next thing was to settle the appropriation for the building and the time when work should begin. This is another forward step by the supervisors in making "Rock County First." The greatest menace to health is tuberculosis. The White Plague is the destroyer of mankind in this climate. No other disease compares with it in its toll of human life. Every measure that can be taken to check the disease, to care for those who have been started on the road with the germs of tuberculosis, and to make life possible to the martyr, is worthy of public attention and legislative emphasis.

Precedents have been broken by California in finding a woman guilty of murder. She killed another woman, not her husband.

GIVING THE CHILD A SQUARE DEAL.

It can scarcely be called paternalism when public laws or public aid is given to a child, born crippled or in its childhood either through neglect or accident, started on the road to adult life handicapped by disease or lacking some of the physical attributes of the more fortunate playmates. The underprivileged child has a greater opportunity now than ever to fight the battle of life. This is made so by the advantages given by the public libraries, home instruction and attention from nurses and other public instruments whose business it is to serve in such cases.

It is a public duty to aid such children. "Am I my brother's keeper?" asked Cain several thousand years ago. He was his brother's keeper, and mankind, while forgetting this fact many times since, is still keeper of his brother. Consideration for the rights of others, taken in its very sense would eliminate most of the difficulties we have as a people living in neighborly communities. Can there be a greater service than to see that no child is dragged down to poverty and beggary and into a channel of life from which there is no escape, but to the contrary that all shall be given an even break in this world?

We have, here in Janesville, in the last few days learned something of a plan that will in a large measure, and in an organized way, attempt to see that all children here are given that square deal and put into a position to grow to manhood and womanhood without handicap. It has been for that purpose that the Kiwanis club has given an entertainment, with all the receipts applied to this splendid movement. After all, man is wonderful kind when his attention is for a moment directed in the right channel. This step forward inaugurated by the Kiwanis club is another distinct, outstanding addition to the welfare of Janesville and vicinity.

KILL UP THE JAYS.

The way to stop auto speeding and violations of auto driving rules and regulations is to send the offenders to jail and keep them there. Our parole system puts a premium on crime. Judge Page Morris of Minneapolis is tired of fining bootleggers and therefore sends all of them to jail, so that the Ramsey and Hennepin county jails are full.

Under the saloon era the victim of the saloon keeper went to jail but now it is the man who makes victims who ornaments the inside of the prison. That is as it should be. Intoxicated drivers of autos and bootleggers will make a most excellent interior decoration for the county detention places.

WHAT ABOUT LLOYD GEORGE?

Bonar Law has won the British parliamentary elections and been confirmed by the people of Great Britain in his premiership. He has had a fairly close call and while the Conservatives have secured a majority of the seats in the Commons, there is little to boast about. Lloyd George has failed to carry himself into power again, but that does not mean so much to him. The people look upon Law and George as of about the same general type. Bonar Law is for negotiation and George positive in his manner but—and there is the difference, in his negative attitude. Bonar Law will perhaps be consistent, while Lloyd George was shifty and spread and trimmed his sails to different winds as the occasion might demand. The British appear to have determined that an experiment with Law is better than a return of George whom they knew and who had been thrown overboard. Also Mr. George will be in a position to either give Mr. Law a severe, heckling or to join the laborites who have secured a large increase in membership and by so doing make it uncomfortable for the government.

Infant Mortality Decreases

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN.

Washington.—The year 1921 was a healthy one for American babies—comparatively speaking. According to the exhaustive report just issued by the American Child Hygiene association, the infant death rate last year was 77.9 per thousand births. This figure is still large enough to be a reproach to the nation, but it may be compared with the infant death rate of 1918 which was 105.7. In other words, of every 1,000 babies born in each of these years nearly 30 more survived in 1921 than in 1918.

The shocking infant mortality of the United States is slowly but surely being cut down as mothers, doctors and nurses are educated in the proper ways of rearing children. For many years the country regarded this preventable decimation of its infants with apathy, believing it to be the inevitable accompaniment of modern life. In 1909 those who were aware that the lives of countless thousands of infants might be saved by the application of intelligence, began the campaign for betterment. In that year the American Child Hygiene association, (it first had another name), was organized under the auspices of the American Academy of Pediatrics and as the organization of this society has expanded and as its energy and influence have grown, the infant death rate has steadily declined. It is a conspicuous example of the value of volunteer effort in civic improvement.

In fact, the direct connection between the education of the public by attested methods and the health of infants is now so well recognized that it has become an axiom with the association that "given proper organization in a community, and enough money, decline in the infant death rate can be predicted mathematically."

The American Child Hygiene association was first in the field, but it is now not alone. During the war there was organized in New York the Child Health Organization of America to instill habits of health into American school children. With its health calendars for children, its health songs and plays, and, more spectacularly, with "Cho-cho, the Health Clown," familiar to tens of thousands of American school children, this organization has been doing valuable practical work. Also within the past 10 years the Children's Bureau was created as part of the Department of Labor, and this official bureau works in close cooperation with the two volunteer bodies.

At its recent annual meeting in Washington, the American Child Hygiene association voted to amalgamate with the Child Health Organization of America, following similar action previously taken by the latter group. The process of combining is now being carried through. Thus in one body will be combined the whole national volunteer effort seeking to improve the health of American children.

Since the Child Hygiene association has concerned itself almost exclusively with children under one year of age and the Child Health Organization has dealt with children of school age, there has remained the province of the pre-school child which has been untouched. The new combined organization expects soon to go into this field. It is important territory, too, because in the pre-school years are developed the defects found so prevalent among school children. A vast amount of work is needed in this field to secure proper dental treatment for children who need it but do not discover their need until they start to school, to secure also better nutrition for children of these years and to combat the contagious diseases of childhood. Those at the head of the new organization believe that the epidemics of measles, whooping cough, and other maladies now regarded as inevitable for children can be much better controlled.

Originally the work of the American Child Hygiene association was quite technical, and the organization relied largely upon physicians to distribute its messages to mothers in need of correct training, but now its scope is far wider. Besides its research and its technical studies, the association now works directly upon the population through its own local branches by setting up health centers and distributing its literature written for popular reading. One of its main efforts has been to encourage the establishment of child hygiene bureaus in the state boards of health. In 1917 there were only 10 such bureaus; now there are 47. These child hygiene bureaus conduct educational work among doctors and nurses, check up local milk supplies, and look into housing and sanitary conditions of homes.

The most conspicuous piece of research work conducted by the association is its annual survey of infant mortality. This survey is steadily growing in scope. The first one was made in 1912, when the infant mortality in 260 American cities was studied. In 1920 the report covered 519 cities. The 1921 survey, which has only recently been completed, embraced 573 cities, in which live more than 40,000,000 people. Thus the report is by far the widest survey ever given of infant mortality in the United States.

One significant point made by the report is that the larger the city, as a rule, the lower its infant death rate. Cities of from 10,000 to 25,000 population showed a death rate of 82.3 per thousand; the largest cities—those of over 250,000 population each—showed as a group an infant death rate of only 75.3 per thousand.

The Pacific coast cities make a splendid showing in the survival of their infants. Portland, Ore., with 48 deaths per thousand births having the lowest infant death rate in 1921 of any large city in the country. The three large cities having the lowest infant death rate are all on the Pacific coast—Portland, San Francisco, and Seattle. Pittsburgh is shown to have had the highest infant death rate in 1921 of all large American cities, followed closely by Kansas City and Buffalo.

In the second group studied—cities with populations ranging from 100,000 to 250,000—three western cities, Oakland, St. Paul, and Spokane again lead, with Memphis, Fall River, and Scranton showing the highest rates in this group. The lowest infant death rates in any of the cities studied, regardless of their size, however, was found in an eastern seaboard community—East Hartford, Conn., with an infant death rate of only 24 per thousand. This may be contrasted with the same figure for the same year for the city of New York, where the rate was 156.

President Harding, Secretary Hoover, and Dr. Emmett Holt the famous child specialist, are among those interested in the new child health organization. A large proportion of the funds which enable the organization to conduct its work comes to it in the form of membership subscriptions.

will not be asked in any of the cases. Of course if a man lies on the ground begging for water or through bloody lips cries for mercy, he should be finished with bullets as was the case at Herlin. One is moved to wonder how these acts should be punished in Williamson county. It makes it worse to when one remembers that Gen. John A. Logan lived at Marlon in this county.

GOOD ENOUGH
My son, beware of "good enough." It isn't made of sterling stuff. It's something any man can do. It marks the man from the few, it has no merit to the eye. It's something any man can buy. It's name is but a sham and bluff. For it is never "good enough."

With "good enough" the shirkers stop in every factory and shop. With "good enough" the failures rest. And lose to men who give their best. With "good enough" the car breaks down. And men fall short of high renown. My son, remember and be wise. In "good enough" disaster lies.

With "good enough" have ships been wrecked. The forward march of armies checked. Great business burned and fortunes lost. Nor can the world compute the cost. In life and money it has paid. Because at "good enough" men stayed. Who stops at "good enough" shall find Success has left him far behind.

There is no "good enough" that's short. Of what you can do and you ought. The flaw which may escape the eye And temporarily not be. Shall weaken underneath the strain And wreck the ship, or car, or train. For this is true of men and stuff—Only the best is "good enough."

Who's Who Today

DR. HENRIK SHIPSTEAD.
When Dr. Henrik Shipstead won the senatorial race in Minnesota at the recent election he accomplished something which had occurred but three times before in the state's history—the defeat of the candidate backed by the Republican party. Running on a Farmer-Labor ticket, he defeated Senator Kollvick and Anna Q. Olsen.

Dr. Shipstead was born on a farm in the township of Gurbank, Kandiyohi county, Minnesota, Jan. 8, 1881, making him 41 years old. He is the youngest of 12 children of a farmer, Dr. Shipstead, who came to Minnesota from Norway. Because of the large family Henrik had to work. His father gave him fourteen acres to plant on potatoes. When the boy came to sell them he received eleven cents a bushel.

His first experience in working out was when he was fourteen years old. After that he was self-supporting. He attended public schools, was graduated from the high school at New London and the normal school at St. Cloud, still working his way. He went to Northwestern university, completing a course in dentistry in 1905.

In 1904 he located at Glenwood, Minn., starting up as a dentist. In 1906 he married Miss Lulu Anderson at Belgrade, Minn. As a reform candidate he was twice elected mayor of Glenwood and was elected to the Minnesota legislature in 1917. As an independent candidate, supported by the non-partisan, he ran for governor in 1920, but was defeated by J. A. O. P. O. After his defeat he moved from Glenwood to Minneapolis, continuing his practice.

TELLING KEG FROM BOTTLE NO TRICK, SAYS DOUGHERTY

United States District Attorney W. H. Dougherty isn't a brewer, but he does know the difference between a keg and a bottle. It was revealed in federal court at Madison this week. Mr. Dougherty was examining Mr. M. Dupont, vice president of the Industrial Chemical Institute, Milwaukee, in the case of the United States vs. the Pacific Coast Brewing Company. Mr. Dupont, being a chemist for big brewing concerns, had a slight advantage over Mr. Dougherty on the technical side of brewing. Therefore, he wanted to be fully explained.

Mr. Dupont has just finished asserting that sealing wax over whitened glass in a bottle of beer, still works in the case of gas and secondary fermentation.

"Well, then," said Mr. Dougherty, "how about the bump in a keg or near-bump? Does that prevent escape of gas?"

"A keg is an entirely different proposition," rejoined the chemist. "I understand. I understand. I do know the difference between a keg and a bottle."

The judge and even Mr. Dougherty joined in the laughter, though, in a way, the joke was on the prosecutor.

Every time the minute hand passes a mark on the clock face, at least one more fire has broken out somewhere in the United States. There are 1,440 minutes in each day, and an average of 1,000 fires occur in that time—a little more than one every minute.

Truly useful patriotism lies in saving this money for your country and yourself. The National Board of Fire Underwriters has prepared an illustrated booklet, "Safeguarding the Home Against Fire," telling in plain English the causes of fire and how they may be prevented and fought.

HOROSCOPE

FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 17, 1922.

Jupiter and Uranus dominate this day in benefic aspect, according to astrology. Venus is mildly helpful. It is a time to hold most encouraging for all who are engaged in merchandising and the holiday trade should be most satisfactory if the signs are read aright.

Bankers should improve this week's late opportunities, which promise profit to those who obey the stars' warnings.

All the planetary influences are most admiring to persons who hold large responsibilities, making for foresight as well as administrative ability.

Agitation concerning the trend of the stars and much criticism of juvenile matters may be expected. The rule is fairly favorable to love-making, although it encourages caution on the part of men.

Women who nourish romance and vanity should discipline themselves, for they are to meet criticism in the changing order of things.

Public opinion will be stressed in the coming months when the pendulum of public opinion will swing back toward conservatism.

Clergymen are well directed at this time when they are to gain influence in public affairs.

This should be a stimulating and illuminating planetary direction for brain workers.

They must depend on the imagination should be able to accomplish much today. Writers and actors are especially guided, the seers declare.

The theater is to gain steadily in popular favor and to be accepted as an educational influence, it is projected.

The stars seem to indicate that dramatic productions are to be more and more taken away from establishments of producers.

This should be a lucky day for all who are engaged in the theater. The chances should greatly benefit. Persons whose birthdate it is have the augury of changes that will increase the income.

Children born on this day may be hearty and inclined to be rash, but generous and lovable. They have a lucky star to guard them.

FARM WIFE, LOST IN NEW YORK, DIES OF SHEER TERROR

New York.—Joseph Gallo found his wife Thursday in the mortuary room of the Bellevue hospital, dead of worry and fright after having been lost in the heart of the city. The last time Joseph saw her alive was when a subway guard hustled him out of a train at the Pennsylvania station and closed the doors before Mrs. Gallo could follow.

The Gallos had come from their farm near Fairfax, S. D., to embark for Czechoslovakia, their childhood home, for a visit. It was their first holiday. Joseph is 61 and his wife a little younger. They arrived amid a typical subway jam and became separated in the confusion. Mrs. Gallo left the train rather up the line and walked the streets in search of her husband. She was confused, afraid of the noise and traffic, afraid of policemen, afraid to ask anybody for help.

Finally she collapsed and passed by had her taken to the hospital where she died. A notice from the Slavonic Immigration society, to which Joseph had applied, brought him to the hospital.

WATER HYACINTH COMING INTO OWN

Crowley, La.—The southern water hyacinth, praised by the beauty lover, hated by the navigator of the bayous and dubbed a nuisance by the irrigation men, has proved its right to live. In Louisiana, this plant is choking the smaller streams, blocking navigation and, when removed at a heavy cost, speedily returns even more prolific. This liability can be converted into an asset, according to a group of chemists, who have prepared and displayed at the Chamber of Commerce, other alcohol, oil, turpentine, stock food, all based on the hyacinth.

The Black Menace

A CRAIG KENNEDY STORY

By ARTHUR B. REEVES.

The story of the Black Menace has to do with the fortunes of a young man, who dies, and she finds herself penniless, the entire fortune having been dissipated. There is enough in the case to show that the Black Menace is a real menace. The story is told by a companion and friend of Kennedy's. The effort is to locate the Black Menace who is responsible for the series of blackmailing cases striking New York City. Kennedy, the chemist-detective, is the one who has been able to locate the Black Menace who is responsible for the series of blackmailing cases striking New York City. Kennedy, the chemist-detective, is the one who has been able to locate the Black Menace who is responsible for the series of blackmailing cases striking New York City.

As Kennedy amplified the bare facts that the cablegram had repeated, Breshkaya listened, fascinated, her eyes now flaming with an unnatural light. She drew closer to Speed, as if for protection, and then she had a sudden vision of the underworld stretched out and threatening her.

"It is a matter of life and death," he said. "I am directly facing Breshkaya. The shots were fired. Cezanne was found dead. Near her was a little ivory-handled pistol. It was known to have belonged to Cezanne. But she had fled—disappeared. Dale suddenly was shocked to his senses. And for the sake of the wealthy American, the affair was hushed up."

Kennedy paused, still watching Breshkaya. "But here is the thing. Oelle Breton," he shot out suddenly, "which you do not know, but that is also a matter of police record over here, both at Monte Carlo and in Paris."

Again he paused. Breshkaya's breath came fast as she struggled with her weakness. "Unknown to you, another person had followed from Paris—was in the garden at the same time—bent on the same mission—that of removing Cezanne for his treachery and terrifying the wealthy American into submission. That person was the head of the Arches—"

Kennedy took a step closer to the pneumograph, bent over it, began studying the ruled tape. "There is a record, given to the police since by a doctor at Monte Carlo, that he dressed a wound in the arm of a man that night. His description and that of the police tally—Raoul Regue. Therefore, on that fatal night in the garden on the Casino, when the two shots were fired, almost together, the one you thought came from either Cezanne or Dale in the darkness, was actually fired by your master criminal—Raoul."

Kennedy turned full on Breshkaya. She had raised herself in bed, a lovely figure now in her dishevelled pallor. Criminal though she was, she could not help seeing in the white American jurymen proverbially see—the woman whom fortune and society had sinned against, somehow. Wild, burning light flashed in her eyes for an instant when they seemed to overcome her a nameless terror again. She sank back.

"You understand what I mean?" enforced Kennedy, loathe to let his advantage slip, as he tried to hold her with the tangle of his revelations. "Two shots were fired. One lodged in the arm of Raoul. Therefore, it could not have been your shot that killed him—ever. For years he has known this—has never told. What, then, becomes of the grip that this man has held over you, ever since?"

Breshkaya gazed about at us wild, rapidly I could reconstruct what was passing in her mind. "Not a murderer, after all!" Kennedy waited.

Evidently he had planned this to be a breaking point at which, free from the death terror of the law, she might release herself forever by coming to the aid of the law. Suddenly I realized that in centering my attention on Breshkaya, I had missed the whole trend of Kennedy's exposure. Breshkaya was but a tool in the hands of someone else. Back of her stood the Black Menace.

What was this darkly figured? Were we as far as ever from discovering? In fear, Clare clutched wildly at Speed's arm.

Kennedy bent over again, still studying the pneumograph tracing, a quiet smile playing over his face. "Miss Cienfuegos," he reassured casually, "I think you will be able to recover from a safely deposit vault at least enough of your fortune to make a sizeable dowry."

He tapped the pneumograph again. "Strangest part of all this strange story—as it is revealed here by the pneumograph—is this Black Menace, hiding here in New York, for years, had an unparalleled opportunity to prey upon the weakness of American society—had been well-nigh a master of the moment of society—conquered with society's inmost secrets—and never suspected, although he has for months."

"The lights in the room flashed out. In the semi-darkness of the street light, shining at us through the window, I could make out a dim figure over by the wall switch. A woman screamed—Breshkaya's voice. Two figures hurried itself at the first.

One of the police flashed a pocket light, and its rays fell up an upturned arm, clutched in the air. The gun discharged wild in the air. But in the drifting smoke and the rays of light I could see the contorted, slight back from the forearm, the slight ripple of the shirt. On the forearm was a deep, deep, deep scar of a bullet. I flung myself forward, just as the arm wrenched down.

"Never mind, Walter," panted Kennedy. "I have the bracelets, on him now." The lights flashed up again, and I saw at last the Black Menace—head of a band of international black-malliers who had fled to New York at the outbreak of the war to prey on American millionaires already compromised abroad—Raoul, the Red, who for months had failed to catch himself—Raoul!"

GRACEFUL FEET

Any woman who is not actually deformed can possess graceful feet and ankles. The size of the feet has nothing to do with it; it is the way they are used that counts. The way they are used that counts. The way they are used that counts.

To keep them in good condition the feet should be frequently massaged. This stimulates the circulation of the blood, which is always sluggish at the extremities of the body, particularly with anemic people. By its stimulation massage lessens the tendency towards corns and the deeper lesions that afflict the feet and make them ugly. A weekly pedicure is so necessary that I do not wish to call it a beauty treatment though it certainly does its share in beautifying.

I should recommend for the busy woman a weekly treatment somewhat as follows: After the bath, while the feet are still warm from the long immersion in hot water, trim all the toenails, straight across and cut the two large nails with a slight inward curve. This prevents that painful affliction, ingrowing toenails. With the pointed blade of a nail file, under the nail and scrape away the loose dead skin which collects around the edges. If any ragged or large bits show, clip them with your manicure scissors, and if the big toenail is too thick, rub it down with wet pumice stone.

If there are corns cover them at the beginning of this treatment with a bit of cotton dipped in witch hazel or even warm soapy water. Now shave them with a sharp knife. After this massage each foot and ankle, using both hands and enough water to make the feet feel fresh and stimulated. End by spraying them with toilet vinegar or toilet water and massage again until dry.

F. L. R.—At 17, five feet two, your weight should be 110 pounds.

from the bananas and scrape the long fibers from the outside; cut in halves lengthwise, and put in a granite pan. Pour over the bananas a mixture of two tablespoons of melted butter, one third cup of sugar and the juice of half a lemon. Bake in moderate oven about 30 minutes. Turn once during baking. The bananas should be baked frequently with the butter and sugar mixture, which forms a thick syrup and becomes slightly when the bananas are done.

Banana Mousse—Beat one egg light for each cup of entire wheat flour used. For each cup of flour use a level teaspoonful of baking powder, two level teaspoonsful of sugar, one-third teaspoonful salt; sift all together into beaten egg, add cold water gradually until just soft enough to handle and roll. Place on floured board and knead lightly until smooth. Roll out three-eighths of an inch thick. Cut out. Wipe over with milk. Bake in hot oven until well browned.

Sausage Pie and Turnovers—Pre-heat oven to 350° F. Brown one pound of sausage until brown and about half done. Arrange in a baking dish, add the drippings with enough hot water to form a good gravy. Give this last a little extra seasoning. Cover with a crust made of one-half cup of flour and one-half cup of lard and bake for a half hour. Each sausage cake may be laid on a round of pastry which is then doubled over to make a "turnover," and baked. Sausage turnovers are excellent food for lunches, suppers and picnics.

Corn Starch Cake—One cup butter, two cups sugar, one cup milk, one cup corn starch, two cups flour, sifted before measuring, four and one-half level teaspoons baking powder, whites of five eggs beaten stiffly, three-fourths teaspoon of vanilla or one-half teaspoon almond extract. Cream butter, add sugar gradually, then add the milk and flour mixed and sifted with the corn starch and baking powder, last the stiffly beaten egg whites and flavoring. This makes two cakes. Bake in two 8-inch square pans, 25 minutes. Turn out on a greased board, cut into squares, and serve with fruit or cream.

SUGGESTIONS
A good filling for a one crust pie is grated pineapple, thickened with cornstarch. Discoloration on china teacups can be removed by rubbing the spots with a damp cloth dipped in ordinary salt. Teacups that have become stained with the yolk of an egg can be made clean and bright by rubbing with a dry cloth dipped in salt.

Heart and Home Problems

BY ELIZABETH THOMPSON.

Letters May Be Addressed to Mrs. Thompson, in Care of the Gazette.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a young married lady, twenty-two years old, and my husband is twenty-five. We have been married for a long time, but we were married, but finally he got a position in a city about a hundred other side of the room he turned, and on his face a smile and a note of triumph in his voice. "Madam, it is just as I thought, you have automatism," he said. Washington and Jefferson Way, D.C.

I had always considered him of a gentle disposition and that she rather domineered. One evening he was a little slow in getting on his feet, and when he arrived at the first, she had a bull necky teed up for him. He swung and missed it entirely, stooped, picked it up and said, "Damn, I have often have I to tell you that I can't play those Spading Thirties? In the future you will at least let me play my own golf."

A man prominent in the financial district, who is as mean as a cat, is fond of getting advice for nothing. Meeting the doctor one day, he said to him: "I am on my way home, doctor. I feel very frazzled and worn out generally. What ought I to take?" "A taxi," came the curt reply. —Detroit News.

No, it would not be foolish to go to your husband. Two people who love each other so much ought to be together. I will for you much more for two of you than it does for one. Perhaps you can get a room where you have cooking privileges and then you can do your own cooking, which will reduce your expenses. The home sickness which has possession of your husband, does not help him in his business. Surely it throws depression

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am troubled with canker sores in my mouth. What can I do for this? "G.T. But powdered alum or bicarbonate of soda on the sores. Also drink a cup of hot water with one-third of a teaspoon of bicarbonate of soda dissolved in it three times a day. You have too much acidity in your blood and the soda will correct that condition."

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a school girl in the eighth grade. Two weeks ago I had to leave school because of poisoning I got in my foot. My class sent me flowers, but my dearest girl friend took up the collection and suggested sending them. I know this because another girl told me. I want to write a letter of thanks and I don't know whether to send it to my girl friend or to my teacher, asking that the letter be read to the class showing them how much I enjoyed the flowers. What would you advise me to do? Send the letter to your teacher. You might tell your girl friend when you see her that you heard she was the one who suggested the flowers, and you appreciate her thoughtfulness.

$10,000,000 MORE ASKED IN BUDGETS

Board of Public Works Adjourns for Week-end: May Request $55,000,000.

Madison—The state board of public affairs, which has spent the last three days hearing budget requests of Wisconsin state departments, adjourned Friday until next week, when meetings will be continued.

A large share of the important state departments had presented their budget proposals to the board Friday, practically all of them asking large increases over the past biennium despite the request of Governor Blaine that state expenses be held down.

Indications were that requests of $55,000,000 would be before the board for consideration. These requested appropriations will be pared down by the board before going to the finance committee of the legislature.

The budget for educational purposes presented to the legislature is approximately $20,000,000 for the biennium, the university being the only state educational institution to hold its requests for appropriations down to the approximate level of the last two years.

Judging by the rate of increase in requests in the early budgets submitted to the board, the cost of operating the state government will be nearly $10,000,000 more than during the last two years. It is thought, however, that the board will cut out large sections of the requested appropriations.

The nine Wisconsin normal schools Thursday presented their requests, totalling $5,000,000 for the biennium or over $1,500,000 more than was expended during the past two years.

Barron County Against Nurse Law

Barron county objects to the state law requiring counties to have county nurses.

A communication was read before the Rock county board, Friday, by County Clerk Howard W. Lee as received from the Barron county board in which the Rock county supervisors were urged to use their influence to have the laws amended so as to make it optional for counties to decide whether they wanted a county nurse. The idea was made known to the people by demanding a material reduction in taxes.

"I believe counties should have the right to hire one as they see fit," declared W. E. Morgan, Linia supervisor.

The letter was tabled by Chairman W. W. Dalton although a vote of the board wanted to see a vote taken.

Y. W. SERVICE IS FEATURE OF WEEK

The Friday evening service at the Y. W. C. A. at 7:30 will be one of the most important of the series of evening meetings in connection with the Week of Prayer. Miss Elizabeth Clark, formerly immigration secretary in London will be the speaker. Miss Ruth Jeffers will preside. Mrs. Roy Parker will sing, her accompanist being Miss Ada Beard.

RECONSIDER ROUTE 20, IN. CO. BOARD

By a vote of 27 to 15 the county board Thursday voted to reconsider the action on location of Route 20.

A blasting demonstration for all interested will be held at the farm of Frank Schoenmacher, three and a half miles northwest of Oxfordville, at 2 p. m., Tuesday. John Svendsen, Madison, and County Agent R. T. Glasco, this city, will have charge.

O'Hara Death Accidental

Further investigation into the death of William O'Hara, who was thought to have committed suicide, Wednesday night in his room at the home of Mrs. Frank Carver, 320 Cherry street, has convinced Coroner Lynn Whaley that the death was accidental. He saw all evidence points to the fact that O'Hara either turned on the gas and then fell asleep before lighting it as he had intended it, or partially undressed, turned out the light, and accidentally turned it on again.

Relatives of O'Hara arrived from Antigo at noon Friday. They were two sisters—Mrs. A. J. Betin and Mrs. Matthew Dougan—and a brother-in-law, A. J. Betin. Other relatives are two brothers, George Wonesover, Joseph of Stanley; and a sister, Wilfred, of Wonesover. It was discovered that O'Hara was 29 years old. He was an excellent mechanic, and had an excellent position with the Skid company. He was a member of the International Association of Mechanics. It was said he had been drinking previous to going to his room Wednesday night.

The body will be shipped to

Schultz Says He Would Not Be Without It

"Tanic soon put me on the road to health and I never intend to be without it in the house," declared Hugo Schultz, 1171 Greenfield Ave., Milwaukee, Wis.

"For two years my stomach was all out of order. I suffered from indigestion and gas bloating and was in distress after every meal. My appetite was poor, my liver was sluggish and my color was very sallow. Constipation caused me no end of trouble, my back hurt terribly in the region of my kidneys and I was so nervous and restless I couldn't half sleep."

"Five bottles of Tanlac fixed me up fine. I have a big appetite, everything agrees with me, and I am enjoying the very best of health. Tanlac has done even more than was claimed for it in my case."

BRINGING UP FATHER

More than a thousand Janesville football fans are expected to plant their feet on the field Saturday afternoon. The occasion is the annual battle between Janesville and Beloit high schools...

BUT WILLIAMS could be more than that. At present he is being worked for that one feature—running. The moment the ball goes to him the enemy knows what is going to happen. Unless measure of interference, he is not likely to be stopped before he has passed the safety.

Superior's Entry for State Championship

SUPERIOR HIGH SCHOOL'S GRAD FOOTBALL TEAM.

Beloit Works Hard. Beloit high has not lost time this week. Brain work indoors was given the Purple last Monday, due to a rain soaked field. Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, the Gateway city eleven was given two hours of physical training...

"WHEN ROLLIE was in Edgerton," says Lamoreaux, "he could punt as well as Tait does now. I am sure that if he were to go right out on the field without any practice he could kick as well as Tait did against Illinois last Saturday. Richards has not found this out and used it."

Have Tricks in Reserve. The first and second teams went through a 20 minute game Thursday night with the regular scoring two touchdowns and the substitutes one. The Blue have worked up several trick plays to use against Beloit.

"TOLLIE can also pass the ball," continued Lamoreaux, "and with his knowledge of basketball and baseball ability he could be developed into one of the greatest players. With that in mind, the opposing team triple threat, the opposing team would never know what to expect. It is now they just know what Williams is going to do, and they know just what Tait is going to do."

Fort Willing for Superior Grid Battle

Fort Atkinson high school will be glad to play Superior in an elimination game at Fort after next Saturday Superintendent P. C. Bray of the Fort schools told the Gazette Thursday night. Dating and other arrangements will depend upon whether the Fort defeats Edgerton at the Tobacco city Saturday.

Hot Off the Gridiron—Fighting mad, Badgers leave for Michigan supported by 2,000 rooters. Commenting on the Michigan-Badger game, Coach Yost there is no doubt that ever runs true in predicting victory—Lova leaves for Ohio with a broken leg. Quarterback Parkin injured—Ohio to use overhead offense—Chicago in fine shape, except for Lampe and Dickson, ends 27 men and neither O'Hearn nor Robinson, halfback, may not play with them. Neither O'Hearn nor Robinson will start for Yale, while Princeton is in fine shape. Rockford gives Beloit and Ripon keys to city. Nov. 25—Columbia defeats with Big Ten and Missouri Valleys take on Great Lakes Monday.

VOTE FOR BUILDING
SANATORIUM IN 1923
ENDS LONG FIGHT

"You represent the people from your township and they will stand behind your action," reminded Chairman Dalton.

$200,000 Bond Issue Suggested
Supervisor J. A. Richardson, Jansville, one of the members of the joint committee, said he was in accord with Mr. Lathrop's suggestion but that he could find no provision whereby this could be done. Stating Mr. Paul regarding expense, he said $120,000 was too much to raise in any way other than a bond issue and suggested a $200,000 bond issue to cover the construction of the sanatorium and the two buildings desired at the county farm, running for eight years with the first $25,000 becoming due in 1925, and $25,000 each year thereafter.

Mr. Lathrop's representative, C. O. Osgood, objected to the sanatorium, feeling that it was not right to burden the coming generation with high taxes and that the farmers had all they could stand and more at the present time.

Chairman Dalton ruled out of order Supervisor George Drafski's motion to put it up to a referendum, and the vote assuring the sanatorium was cast as follows:

How They Voted
Ayes—Arthur, Briffin, Chris, Unison, Crist, Denning, Doty, El, Unison, Gowers, Knight, Macdonald, Merriman, Stacey, Paulson, Fer, Ricko, Richardson, Ross, Simon, Smith, C. M. Smith, Snyder, Tridaway, Van Wart, Walker, Woodruff, Dalton.

HEAVY PRESSURE ON SHIP SUBSIDY

President Plans to Force Legislation; Climax of Career at Hand.

By DAVID LAWRENCE
Copyright, 1922, by Jamesville Daily Gazette.

Washington—President Harding faces the climax of his political career. He means to force ship subsidy legislation through congress. The whole pressure of the administration will be put into the fight. There will be no respite for the president. Within the next 48 hours the president has outlined the line of action to his associates.

He feels that his party must stand back of him on this administration measure or confess its inability to cope with after-war problems. Mr. Harding is not going to regard the ship subsidy bill as a party measure. He is making a bid for democratic support. His feeling is that the present shipping situation was created by the war, by a democratic administration, assisted by republicans, and that both parties owe it to the country to straighten out the mess.

The president is confident the whole country will support the ship subsidy program when it understands the facts. He charges that enemies of the measure have misrepresented the case. They are trying to prejudice the nation because of its traditional opposition to subsidies. But a pre-war subsidy and a post-war subsidy are two different things. Mr. Harding's opinion is that the United States government is at present subsidizing the shipping board. Mr. Harding wants to reduce the financial burden by cutting the subsidy which costs much less. His proposal is to salvage the private owners to take the government vessels and build up a shipping trade away back to the government. At the time the amount of the aid given now.

Cost of Program.
The cost of the program would be less, Mr. Harding argues, than to continue to furnish the shipping board annually with the present appropriations for government operation. And besides, the president contends that if the government keeps on operating the ships they will wear out and Congress will not be disposed to appropriate any money to replace them. Also the war fleet is not suited in every particular to peacetime conditions and certain types of vessels must be built to balance the merchant marine. The government will not spend any more money on ship construction but properly encourage private companies with private owners will not build or build while the government is a competitor in the shipping business.

No Alternative.
So the president has no alternative to the ship subsidy program except a continuation of the present heavy expenditure for ships and a deterioration of the government fleet so that it cannot ultimately be sold in any hope of getting out of the investment even a fraction of the original cost.

Under the new proposal the private companies would be assisted in operating the ships and they would own the ships from the government at a fair price. The president is confident the government will get back into the treasury millions of dollars which it would otherwise lose. As for profit-making, there would be no guarantee of profits to anybody. There would be on the other hand, a limitation of profits so that all in excess of a certain percentage would revert to the government to help pay the subsidy.

Operation Costly.
Mr. Harding feels that the whole thing is a bookkeeping transaction. It is nothing more than to expend annually large sums for government operation—a plain subsidy without hope of return. To place the amount of government expenditure and assure a return of a large part of the original cost of the ships. Aside from these considerations, the value to the United States of a merchant fleet in time of war and the greater value of a fleet which permits America's products to be carried to the four corners of the earth by American ships and under rates more or less under government regulation.

House to Pass Bill.
The president is confident the bill will pass the house within the next 10 days just as the session called for next Monday comes to an end. The republican majority is big enough to get it through on a special rule. Once through the house, the measure will go to the senate, for at least a half dozen democrats will vote for the measure, making up for some defections from the republican ranks. Mr. Harding will press for immediate action in the senate. The upper house will get the bill at the beginning of the regular session in December when normally the senate would not wait a couple of weeks for the president's action. The president is not thinking of defeat—he is going at it with a determination to win. More than the merchant marine is at stake—it is really whether the coming session of congress will drift without regard to the executive or whether it will at last bow to the party leader and pass a constructive measure which he, as president, considers paramount.

OIL LIGHT BEATS ELECTRIC OR GAS

It burns 94% air and 6% common kerosene (coal-oil). The inventor, P. D. Johnson, 609 W. # TURKEYS TO COST MORE THAN IN '21

Price Around 60-70 Cents Is Predicted—Other Foods Cheaper.

The fairly large supply of turkeys in evidence earlier in the fall, and the subsequent low price, both seem to be rapidly disappearing with prospects for a lower price on turkeys diminishing daily. While it was thought that this section would have a cheap Thanksgiving, it now looks as though turkeys will bring even more than last year's top price—70 cents a pound.

The scarcity of turkeys in the market at that time being from 80 cents to $1.00, now seems to be spreading to a point where supply will keep down the price further. At present, the market price for turkeys is about half a dollar a pound, which is a high price for the month of November.

High in East.
A table of turkey prices in various cities was made some weeks ago, and shows prices on the east much higher than here. However, since then, the market has changed considerably. It showed that Los Angeles could buy turkeys at that time for 35 cents a pound. St. Paul, as well as other cities in the middle west, were paying 50 cents, Pittsburgh, 60, Boston, 85, and New York, one dollar per pound. Prices now are even higher.

Other Foods Cheaper.
Other foodstuffs for the Thanksgiving dinner will doubtless be slightly lower than in the two or three preceding years. Present prices are considerably lower than last year's. They are:

Apples, 5-8 cents per pound; 15-25 cents with those of the top price being the cork-packed McIntosh, 50-60 cents a dozen; a number of new and larger varieties coming in; 60 cents a dozen; grapefruit, 15 cents each; pineapples, 25 and 30 cents each; cranberries, 10-18 cents a bushel; pumpkins and squash, 10-15 cents a bushel; sweet potatoes, 20-25 cents a bushel; celery, 15 cents a bunch; green peppers, 10 cents each; corn, 10-15 cents a bushel; beans, 10-15 cents a bushel; lentils, 10-15 cents a bushel; chickpeas, 10-15 cents a bushel; split peas, 10-15 cents a bushel; navy beans, 10-15 cents a bushel; lima beans, 10-15 cents a bushel;
